Bulbs 20 Years from the Same Grower

The fact that I have increased my orders every year for twenty years from the same grower, is pretty good proof that his stock and my prices are right. During this time I have placed trial orders with several other growers, none of whom have satisfied me with as clean, solid bulbs, evenly graded, and carefully packed.

A crop of Dutch bulbs, like onions, may be sorted into several sizes and the only way to be sure of getting choice bulbs is to buy of reliable dealers on whom you can depend not only for the best sizes, but also for varieties true to name.

No doubt, intending purchasers wonder why I furnish these

High Class Bulbs at Such Low Prices

There are two principal reasons: First, I can. Second, I will.

I can because overhead expenses in the country are exceedingly small.

I will be true to our motto: "Prices as Low as Consistent with Highest Quality." When I make a price I do not consider how much the buyer will stand, but simply add a small profit to the cost in Holland, plus duty, transportation and overhead expenses. I have never cared to trade where I had to pay more than a fair profit, and why should I expect others to be very different? Human nature is quite the same everywhere.

By a square deal my grower has had a good customer twenty years, which must be more satisfactory than if he had "soaked" me once or twice. It is certainly more satisfactory to me to supply old customers than to be entirely dependent on new ones, even if I do not make so much money. Profit should not be the highest aim in business. Furthermore, in the long run, square dealing will pay better, even from a money point of view.

A trial order is all we ask to prove the quality of stock we offer. We guarantee safe arrival and you need not pay until time of delivery.

Facts to Remember

Remember, bulbs must be planted in the fall. You have admired your neighbor's hyacinths, tulips and narcissus this spring and resolved to have some like them this year. Order now and secure better stock at far less price and be sure to get those you desire.

Remember, most of the Hardy Perennial Plants should be planted early—very early—September. Peonies, Iris, etc., would bloom the following spring and save nearly a year's time.

Remember, we are headquarters for the choicest peonies in cultivation.

Remember, Evergreens should be planted in August and September, or in the spring.

Remember, many Deciduous Trees and Shrubs are better planted in October and November than in spring.

Remember, we are ready to assist you either by correspondence or by our large catalogue, which gives a full list of choice Evergreens, Peonies, Iris, Phlox, etc. It is so valuable that I presume you have kept the copy we sent you in spring. If not, be sure to ask for another.

Remember, you are welcome any day except Sunday to visit the nursery on the Saw Mill River Road, a mile and one-half north of the Westchester Alms House. A glimpse of one of our peony fields is a sight long to be remembered.

Persons unknown to us should send financial references when ordering.

How and When to Plant Bulbs

Bulb planting out-of-doors should be as early as the middle of October for best results, and even earlier. In the case of Lilium Candidum, Iris, Colchicum and Narcissus, August and September is none to early. Dutch bulbs should be planted evenly about six inches to the bottom of the bulb, in well prepared soil. Lilies should be eight to ten inches below the surface. If planted at uneven depths they will not bloom evenly. After the ground is frozen cover the bed with leaves or stable litter to the depth of six inches, and remove it early in the spring. Bulbs may be left in the ground and will bloom just as well the second year. If the bed is used for Geraniums, Salvias, or other bedding plants (except those with large roots, like Cannas), the bulbs need not be disturbed by setting the plants between them after the blossoms are gone. The leaves of the bulbs will soon die down, leaving the bedding plants alone in sight.

It has been my practice, since I began to import bulbs, twenty years ago, to buy for my customers the very best stock grown, believing that Americans are not only as appreciative of the best, but also as able to pay for select bulbs, as are the people of Europe. The result is that I have built up a magnificent trade amid the fiercest competition among large dealers, many of whom have yielded to the cry for cheap bulbs. To secure the low prices at which I offer these choice, picked bulbs, orders should be placed early, as they are filled in rotation. My method of securing the best at less than the price of common stock is worth a trial by all who buy bulbs in any quantity.

Pot of Tulips

Forcing Bulbs

Tulips in pots make a magnificent display if eight or ten bulbs of one variety are grown in an 8-inch pot or seed pan, or five to seven bulbs in a 6-inch pot. Any good garden soil does very well, but the best consists of three parts of fibrous loam, one part of well rotted manure, and one part sand. Place a piece of broken pot or coal over the hole, fill the pot about two thirds full of soil, and jar it down somewhat; set the bulbs on this soil about the same distance apart and cover them to the depth of an inch, pressing the soil around them firmly with the hand. Soak with water and set the pots away in a dark, cool room, where they should not be allowed to get dry (they may need watering once in two or three weeks); or dig a trench in the garden, set in coal ashes to the depth of several inches. Before the ground freezes, place over them a good depth of coarse manure or leaves to keep them from freezing, so that the pots may be brought into the house as wanted. Do not bring them into a very warm room.

Hyacinths, Crocuses, Narcissi, etc., should be treated the same way, except that the crowns of the Hyacinths should not be covered. Hyacinths should be planted singly in 5-inch pots, or three or four in 7 or 8-inch pots. Successful bulb culture depends upon getting roots well established in the pot at a low temperature of 40 to 50 degrees before bringing them into a temperature of a living room to form the tops. New pots should soak in water over night before using.

We guarantee our bulbs equal to any imported, no matter what claims are made or prices asked.

We are offering below, in a number of varieties, Mother Bulbs at prices of ordinary size, which should induce many to give our bulbs a trial. 5 at 10 rate, 50 at 100 rate, 250 at 1,000 rate.

Darwin Tulips

This comparatively new class of tulips is now the most popular of all, and justly so, not only because of the late flowering qualities and stately appearance, bearing their globular flowers on long, strong stems, but also because of their rich colors ranging from most delicate, pale pink to the deepest scarlet; from lavender and light blue to violet purple and the so-called "Black Tulip." About the only color not represented is yellow. To supply this color one may use Inglescombe Yellow, a May-flowering tulip, blooming at the same time as the Darwins. Moreover, many of the varieties are good for forcing.

Late Single May Flowering Tulips

No description can do justice to these beautiful Tulips. They bloom much later than the Early Tulips and are exquisite for cutting. They will last in vases for several days. Their popularity is noted by the increasing demand for them. One order often brings a larger one the next year. The prices have been quite high, but at the low rate offered this year no garden or border should be without them.

French Roman Hyacinths

A charming class of Hyacinths, producing graceful, delicately perfumed spikes of flowers; they force readily in the house. Each bulb produces several spikes. Their treatment is the same as that of other hyacinths. The white variety is used by the million for early bloom. Potted in September, they will flower in December. The whole success of pot culture with these, as with Dutch Hyacinths, tulips, narcissi, etc., depends upon getting roots well established in the pot at a low temperature of 40 to 50 degrees, before bringing them into a temperature of the living room to force the tops.

Crocuses

Crocuses should be more used than they are. They are entirely hardy and increase from year to year. They are the first to flower after the snowdrops, and make a magnificent show in the grass, as well as in the border. When a large number are to be planted, proceed as follows:

With the spade cut the sod at right angles; turn it back on a hinge (as it were), putting in a few bulbs around the sides of the hole; turn the sod back and tread firmly. Planted with Scilla Sibirica, a fine show is produced.

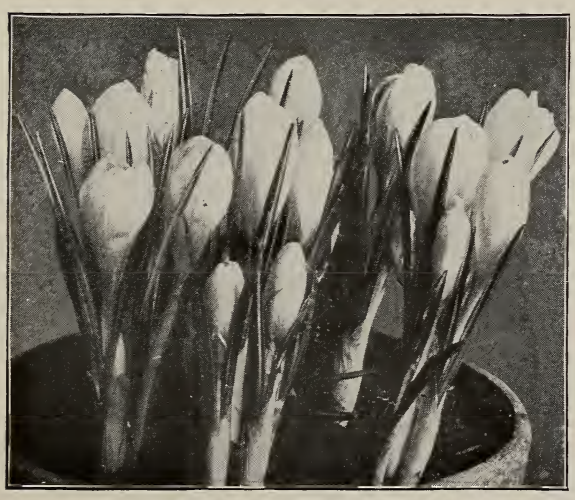
From New York

Will you send me at the proper time this autumn 200 of your fine Pink Beauty tulips? You sent me 50 of them last fall and they were very handsome.



Crocuses Are Easily Forced

Hyacinths

From New York

I am always saying a good word for S. G. Harris. Only last evening one of my neighbors who is going to buy some bulbs asked me where I got mine and of course I told her there was only one place. By the way, it might be well for you to send her one of your catalogues.

Wishing you the success which I feel that you deserve and assuring you I will be glad to send you an order for some more bulbs this fall, I remain,

From Ohio

The bulbs were by far the finest I ever bought at any price. Kindly send me new catalogue as soon as out. Expect to have nice rose order for you.

From Ohio

The package of bulbs arrived yesterday and it is expressing it but mildly to say that I was delightfully surprised when the package was opened. The bulbs were larger than any others I have bought in the past, and hereafter you will get all of my business, for with such superior bulbs in size the blooms next spring must surely correspond in size and quality.

Kindly send me your Spring Catalogue.

From New York

I enclose list of bulbs for fall potting. Kindly let me have your price on the list. The stock you sent me last fall was the best lot I ever received, and if you can do as well or better I shall be glad to place order.

From Kentucky

I got a lot of Emperor daffodils and Murillo and Parrot tulips from you and they have been magnificent and the wonder and admiration of every one who sees them. I shall make my order when the fall price list comes.

From Rhode Island

Your No. 2 Hyacinths are as large as we get here for exhibition size at half the cost.

From New York

The bulbs arrived and are as fine a lot as I ever saw. I am entirely satisfied with them and feel that when I want anything of this nature, I know where to go and be satisfied.

From Pennsylvania

It may be of interest to you to have an acknowledgment of the receipt of the peonies which you shipped to the writer. These came in fine shape and were superior to any we have previously purchased.

"Prepared" Hyacinths

We are offering this year a new class of Hyacinths which are especially prepared for early flowering. The choice of varieties is quite limited on account of the preparation. These varieties may be relied upon to bloom on or before Christmas with certainty of good results, provided they are treated as follows: After the bulbs are potted up, they should be kept in a temperature not higher than 50 to 60 degrees. About four weeks before they are wanted to flower, they should be placed in a temperature of 70 to 80 degrees and kept dark until the flower has fairly advanced. Not much bottom heat should be given but plenty of moist air. Three varieties we offer in miniatures, the others in second size bulbs.

Narcissus or Daffodils

Probably no class of Dutch bulbs is more satisfactory all in all than the narcissus. They seem to be suited with nearly all conditions of soil, in full sun or semi-shade, and give a great wealth of bloom for a small expenditure of time and money. Most of the varieties are also very useful for forcing. Moreover, they give more permanent results out of doors than most of the Dutch bulbs, increasing in bloom for several years after which the increased stock may be transplanted. The effect produced by these bulbs from some of the varieties naturalized in the grass or along the border or stream is very satisfactory.

A succession of bloom may be had outdoors as well as indoors by selecting early, medium and late flowering varieties.

For your convenience we separate the Trumpet Narcissus into two classes, viz.: Giant Trumpets, of which Emperor is the type, and Short Trumpets, of which Sir Watkin and Poeticus are the type.

Trumpet Narcissus, Bicolor Victoria

Giant Trumpet Narcissus

Of all the Narcissus these are the most showy and useful either indoors or in the open ground. Flowers are larger and every one of the varieties we have selected is deserving of extensive planting.

You may deduct one-fifth from the amount of your order if it reaches us before July 1st.

Mrs. Langtry. White perianth with white cup edged yellow; splendid for cutting	.15	1.25	10.00

Poet's Narcissus

This is the old-fashioned type, flowers white with cups margined red. King Edward VII, Glory of Lisse and Ornatus are the best for indoors. All do well out of doors and are perfectly hardy.

Poeticus

Almira (King Edward VII). Pure white, large flower; good for early forcing	$0.35	$3.25	$30.00
Glory of Lisse, the improved "Poeticus Ornatus." Has a much larger pure white flower and a tall stem; very early.
Best Double Nosed Bulbs	.30	2.50	23.00

Mixture of many good varieties of Narcissus		1.00	8.00

Giant Paper White Narcissi. Easily grown in earth or water, and better than the Chinese Sacred Lily; deliciously scented. Their tall spikes of bloom, with many florets to each spike, may be had by Christmas if planted the last of September. Mammoth bulbs. 30 cts. per doz., $2.00 per 100; $15.00 per 1,000 bulbs in case.

Paper White Grandiflora. Fancy. About 1,250 bulbs in case. $1.40 per 100; $12.00 per 1,000.

Paper White Narcissus force more easily in water than the Chinese narcissus and are more satisfactory in every way.

Double Daffodils

No class of the Narcissus is better known than some of those among the double flowering, especially the Von Sion. My first recollection of Dutch bulbs is this famous old Dutch Daffodil. Every spring it greeted us with a mass of large yellow flowers and no care from one year's end to the other. It is used probably more than any other for forcing and is most excellent for bedding, flowering at the same time with the hyacinths.

	10	100	1000
Alba Plena Odorato. Pure white; a splendid cutting flower, but cannot be forced	$0.20	$1.50	$12.00

Narcissus Bulbs. The size that gives 2 to 3 large blooms

"Better Be Sure Than Sorry."—Many people failed to secure bulbs last fall, because they expected to buy cheaper on account of the war. Our prices are made to anticipate war conditions.

20 per cent. Discount means that your bulbs may be had at wholesale prices if your order reaches us before July 1st.

English Iris (Angelica)

These beautiful flowers are second only to the Japanese in beauty and some think they are even more graceful, not being so heavy. The markings are exquisite. They come in bloom after the German Iris and before the Japanese.

	10	100	1000
Almoena. Light blue	$0.25	$2.25	$20.00

Very Fine Mixed	.20	1.75	15.00

Spanish Iris (Xiphoides)

These choice early Irises give more flowers for the money than any other Iris. By covering the bed with glass in the beginning of April, the flowers may be cut in May. Without glass, they bloom in early June.

Freesia

Mammoth. ¾-inch or over. 30 cts. per 10; $2.00 per 100; $15.00 per 1,000.

Choice. ½-inch or over. 15 cts. per 10; $1.25 per 100; $10.00 per 1,000.

Purity. This magnificent new Freesia with its large, snow-white flowers, produced on long stems, has proved itself a worthy acquisition. This can be used where white carnations can be used for decorative purposes. 25 cts. per 10; $1.75 per 100; $15.00 per 1,000.

Forcing Lilies

	10	100	1000

Lily of the Valley

XXX Grade. Berlin Pips. For Christmas forcing. $2.50 per 100; $20.00 per 1,000, from cold storage.

XXX Grade. Berlin Pips. A high grade for late forcing. $2.00 per 100; $17.00 per 1,000.

Strong clumps, for outdoor planting, containing 12 to 15 crowns. $3.00 per dozen; $20.00 per 100.

Garden Lilies

Candidum. (Madonna, or St. Joseph's Lily.) Thick petaled variety. Coming into bloom with the rose and blue larkspur, what a pageant they form. This Lily is of easy culture, quick to increase, and thrives in almost any soil and position. Like other Lilies, they should not be disturbed. Plant in early September for best results. Choice bulbs, $1.00 per doz., $8.00 per 100; mammoth size, $1.25 per doz., $10.00 per 100.

Japanese Lilies may be planted in spring or fall with excellent results. They are especially appropriate for garden or border of old-fashioned flowers, including the Tiger Lily. The following varieties are choice and easy of culture.

Auratum. 8 to 9 inches, $1.25 per dozen; 9 to 11 inches, $2.00 per dozen.

Speciosum album. 8 to 9 inches, $2.00 per dozen; 9 to 11 inches, $3.00 per dozen.

Speciosum rubrum. 8 to 9 inches, $1.50 per dozen; 9 to 11 inches, $2.50 per dozen.

From New York

The Candidum Lilies sent me last autumn have been a perfect joy in our garden, every bulb growing and flowering profusely and nodding to the delphiniums and foxgloves, making our neighbors quite envious.

Import Prices of Roses

For more than a decade we have been importing the famous Irish Roses from Dickson & Sons, to the great satisfaction of many customers. These growers are recognized as among the greatest in the world, with over fifty years' experience with a soil and climate especially adapted to the production of the best stock.

We shall be pleased to correspond with those wishing to plan a rose garden or plant roses in any quantity, for whom we will make special import prices, during the month of June, for delivery in autumn or spring. While our spring catalogue gives a large list heretofore imported, we could greatly extend this list to accommodate those who wish more new and rare varieties and some older varieties not commonly grown. By referring to our catalogue you will note the low prices we have made on this stock, and yet, by having orders in advance, we could make this price still lower, in most cases, and assure our customers of procuring in quantity the varieties they desire. This is not always possible after our catalogue is issued in the spring, as many customers place their orders six months or more in advance. The excerpts from many letters of enthusiastic customers, printed in our spring list, will show how enthusiastic are the purchasers of this Irish stock.

We are now ready to quote prices on all roses for importation fall of 1916 and spring of 1917. We can make a far better price in advance and the customer will be sure of getting the varieties desired. If you expect to need 25 or more roses next season, ask for our import prices, which will be freely mailed on request.

Novelties, Hybrid Teas, Except Where Noted. Abbreviated Descriptions of the Raisers

Edward Bohane. Brilliant velvety orange scarlet; very floriferous; delightfully fragrant. Gold medal, N. R. S.

G. Amedee Hammond. Deep apricot egg yolk, shading off to fawn or delicate buff; very floriferous and very fragrant. Gold Medal, N. R. S., and several certificates.

Killarney

Janet. Virtually a dwarf "Gloire de Dijon," but deeper in color; keeps shape in water some days; strong, delicious perfume adds much to its exquisite chasteness; exemplary habit and exceptionally floriferous.

Margaret Dickson Hamill. Described in our spring 1916 list.

Mrs. Mackellar. Described in our spring 1916 list.

Cheerful. Pure orange flame, the flame shading overspreading the petals; blooms very large and full; opens well in all weather, flowering freely and continuously throughout the whole season.

Gorgeous. Deep orange yellow, heavily veined with reddish copper; color unique and very beautiful. This rose is destined to take the leading place in every rose garden. Gold medal, N. R. S.

Madame Colette Martinet. Beautiful old gold, shaded with orange yellow, long golden yellow bud; not too full.

Mrs. Franklin Dennison. Blooms are a model of perfection, porcelain white, veiled primrose yellow; might be safely described as a yellow shaded "Mildred Grant"; as good a grower as "Frau Karl Druschki," but delightfully perfumed.

Mrs. Hugh Dickson. A grand rose for any purpose; deep cream with heavy suffusion of orange and apricot with delightful perfume. S. G. Medal, N. R. S.

National Emblem. Dark crimson, overlaid velvety crimson. The foliage is absolutely mildew proof; marvelous freedom of bloom right through the season.

Imogen. Orange yellow in centre, shading toward the outside to pale yellow and creamy white; long pointed buds, opening flowers of perfect shape.

Queen of Fragrance. Shell pink tipped with silver; bright and charming, very floriferous; flowers large, double, very elegantly shaped, possessing delicious fragrance which won for it the Clay Challenge Cup (value $375) at the show of the Royal Horticultural Society in England, July, 1914, and a Certificate of Merit from the National Rose Society.

Muriel Dickson (Hybrid Austrian Briar). A glorious bedding rose which, for massing and cutting has no rivals, blooming freely and continuously even until late autumn. Deep reddish copper in the bud state, paling with age to cherry red. Gold Medal, N. R. S.

H. V. Machin. One of the best exhibition roses ever disseminated; intensely black grained, scarlet crimson blooms on sturdy erect growth. Awarded Gold Medal, N. R. S.

Princess Mary. Single rose. Deep crimson scarlet with bright yellow anthers; strong grower, always in bloom; very sweetly scented; undoubtedly the finest rose ever raised.

Mrs. Wemyss Quin. Golden orange which, when the bloom fully opens, becomes deep, non-fading canary yellow. Undoubtedly much the best yellow, both in color and constitution, yet distributed.

Brilliant. Most intense scarlet which does not burn or blue in the sun; the most brilliant bedding rose in existence. Gold Medal, N. R. S.

Colleen. Brilliant rose, shaded rose-pink, never fading until the petals drop; perfect exhibition rose and very sweetly scented. Gold Medal, N. R. S.

Countess Clanwilliam. Delicate peach pink at the base of the petals, which are flamed and heavily edged with deep cherry red, a beautiful contrast of color; very large and full. Gold Medal, N. R. S.

Mrs. S. T. Wright. A delightful sport from that prime favorite, "Harry Kirk." Guard petals old gold, centre petals charmingly suffused with pure rose-pink on orange chrome; deliciously perfumed and very floriferous.

From Connecticut

One of my friends to whom you sent a catalogue thinks, as I do, that the information to be derived from it is invaluable, of the peonies especially so.

From Iowa

I had such splendid success with the peonies and perennials I bought of you that I am coming to you to supply the stock I need to fill in. About one-half of what I bought from another firm failed last year while I did not lose a single thing I got from you.

From Illinois

Frankly, I believe it is a mistake to move stuff from one end of the country to another but some roses I got from you did so well that I am tempted to try a small order of fruits.

Peonies and Other Perennials

La Fiancée

Rosedale Nurseries are famous for selection, size and vigor of stock and fair prices of peonies.

Our large Catalogue, mailed last February, gives a full list of these, in one, two and three-year sizes and is replete with cultural directions. If your copy is not at hand a postal will bring it. Our stock in many of the varieties is large and we can, therefore, make our prices in accordance with our motto: Prices as Low as Consistent with Highest Quality.

A special and cordial invitation is hereby extended you to come and see the billowy blooms in June. If this season is inconvenient you will find attractions worthy of a visit at any time—Hardy Perennials and Evergreens in great variety; also Azaleas, Rhododendrons, Mountain Laurel and other flowering shrubs and trees.

Peonies are the cheapest of all Perennials although they seem highest; since they not only increase in value from year to year, but last a life time.

Peony Collections

One Year Plants

For those who have not the time or are not sufficiently familiar with the different peonies to make a selection, we offer the special sets named below. These have been selected with great care to cover the widest range of colors and long season of bloom.

One of Our Four Fields of Peonies

Harrisburg, Pa., July 20, 1915.

S. G. Harris, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—Last October I received 75 to 100 peonies from you. I won't sing "Tell me the Old, Old Story" for you, but in the last ten years I have been peony slung—harpooned and trimmed until I refuse to resent a raw deal on peonies any more. I just quit. I now take that time to tell the man who has given me a square deal "Shuke, you are a gentleman and a scholar and sure earned your money."

Last year I bought from you and ——. His plants were good and worth the price. Yours were large, looked better and were much heavier. This season not more than one third of his had flowers. All of yours, but a few, had blooms, from one to five, many of which were very large. The boys made more than the price paid for the plants from the blooms sold from them Decoration Day. You sell the best plants for the money I ever saw. If I can arrange, I want to put in more this fall.

Some Son of Belial got him hence with the peony catalogue you sent me. I will certainly thank you for a copy as it was one of the few catalogues I wanted to keep.

Men like you deserve the good will and patronage of decent people and I am glad I had the good fortune to deal with you.

Wishing you continued merited success, I am,

Yours truly,
